County Steals Show At Treasure Island

TROUT DINNER BIG SUCCESS

Exposition Officials Express Appreciation For Social Gesture

El Dorado County "stole the show" at the world's fair at Treasure Island Saturday when the county Board of Supervisors served a trout dinner to seventy-five guests, including members of the Golden Gate International Exposition Commission and the directors of the Sacramento-Tahoe Region Building.

"The commission has been host at a great number of dinners honoring other parties but this is the first time that the commission has been honored at a dinner given by another group," J. C. Berendsen, of the exposition committee told the meeting.

"We appreciate it all the more," he continued, "because it is served of the products of your county which you have gone to some trouble to provide for us."

This is according to Chamber of Commerce Secretary Wallace M. Ripley, who reports that the dinner was a success in every way. The El Dorado delegation was besieged by newspaper representatives and photographers, not only those from the Bay District, but representatives of eastern papers.

Squalus Inquiry Is Launched

4-Man Court Commissioned To Seek Cause Of Sinking Of U. S. Navy Submarine

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. (UP)—Lt. Oliver F. Naquin, commander of the submarine Squalus said before a naval board of inquiry today that he had "nothing but praise" for the way all of his officers and men conducted themselves when the submarine went down in a disaster that cost 26 lives.

Listed as "defendant," the doughty naval officer from Alexandria, La., was permitted to sit with the four board members around an oval table and to join with them in questioning witnesses.

The uniformed survivors appeared cheerful as they filed into the white paneled room of the Portsmouth navy yard's administration building where the four man court of inquiry convened.

The board was commissioned to determine whether: 1.—Faulty construction was involved, 2.—Court martials should be ordered.

LIONS HAVE PICTURES FOR LUNCHEON ON TUESDAY

The regular Tuesday luncheon of Placerville Lions at Hotel Raffles will initiate L. R. Armes as president of the club and will have a program of motion pictures for entertainment, arranged by Lion Strum.

President Armes was duly installed at the club's meeting last Tuesday evening but the meeting tomorrow will mark his "baptism" as the presiding officer.

Lion Strum reports that the pictures which have been arranged for will be shown by J. C. Collins, of Oakland, chief load dispatcher for the Pacific Gas & Electric Company. We are unable to state as a certainty, but there is some report that the pictures will show some of the damage done in the northern part of the state by the storms of the winter of 1937-38.

Mrs. B. E. Haslam and daughters, Lynn and Jean, of Pilot Hill, left Sunday for Santa Cruz to spend the fore part of the week. While vacationing, Mrs. Haslam will attend a meeting of women's clubs and also will attend the regional Farm Bureau conference.

RANGER R. C. M. BERRIMAN IS RETIRING FROM SERVICE

Frank McCaslin Transferred From Tahoe Forest To Georgetown District; Supervisor Smith Lauds Record Of Retiring Officer

Ranger R. C. M. Berriman of the Georgetown District of El Dorado Forest is retiring on account of ill health, according to a statement issued today by Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith.

A statement by the supervisor said:

"Ranger Berriman has been a ranger in service on the Tahoe and El Dorado Forests for over thirty years and during this period has served his people in a courteous and courageous manner. He started his service on the Tahoe National Forest with headquarters in Nevada City and was later transferred to the Pacific District of the El Dorado Forest and then was given the supervision of the Georgetown District, where he has served continuously to the present time.

"Bob and Mrs. Berriman are going to be missed for many a day from our official lives as both have been active in all progressive movements on the Georgetown Divide and have given their time generously to the public and the service.

"We regret very much that Ranger Berriman cannot continue in active service and trust that the rest and relaxation from his official duties will benefit him.

"His plans for the present are that he and Mrs. Berriman will reside in Georgetown during the summer months, at least, where they are both so well known and active in civic affairs.

"His successor, Ranger Frank McCaslin, has been transferred from the Tahoe Forest and has assumed his duties at the Georgetown Ranger Station. McCaslin has served on the Sequoia, Stanislaus and Tahoe Forests for many years and, like Ranger Berriman, is a man of broad understanding and can assist his people in their problems and needs. At present he is busy meeting the grazers, miners, lumbermen and other Forest users on the Georgetown District."

Fire Hazard Drive Starts

Highway Patrol Urged To Special Vigilance For Carelessness

SACRAMENTO — Motorists who throw lighted cigarettes, cigars, etc., from moving cars causing fires outside of a business or residence district, endangering human and animal lives, are to be arrested and firmly prosecuted in court.

This warning was issued in Sacramento by Chief E. Raymond Carro of the California Highway Patrol who ordered every officer of the patrol to be especially vigilant in making such arrests. Because of the extremely dangerous fire hazard existing this year, the Patrol is working in conjunction with other state agencies, in an effort to prevent fires and will center its efforts upon motorists.

Section 600 of the California Vehicle Code provides that outside of a business or residence district no person shall wilfully or negligently throw from any vehicle upon a highway any lighted cigar, cigarette, ashes, or any other flaming or glowing substance.

Punishment upon conviction is fixed by fine not to exceed $500 or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, it was pointed out.

Tornado Kills 10, Hurts 200 In Minnesota

ANOKA, Minn. (UP)—National guardsmen, police and volunteers, under the personal direction of Gov. Harold E. Etassen, today began clearing debris left by a tornado which struck this little Mississippi river town late yesterday, killing at least ten and injuring more than 200.

Authorities believed all victims of the storm had been found. They said a score of the injured were in serious condition, and estimated that property damage would total at least $500,000.

Realty Meeting Held At Bay

Mrs. Fannie Keller Attends Week-Long State Convention

Mrs. Fannie Keller returned to Placerville from Oakland, where she had spent the weekend attending the 35th annual convention of the California Real Estate Association. She was the only realty agent in attendance from El Dorado County.

Before leaving for the convention Mrs. Keller had supplied herself with a number of booklets concerning El Dorado County which she placed in the lobby of the convention headquarters, Hotel Oakland, for the inspection of anyone who might be interested.

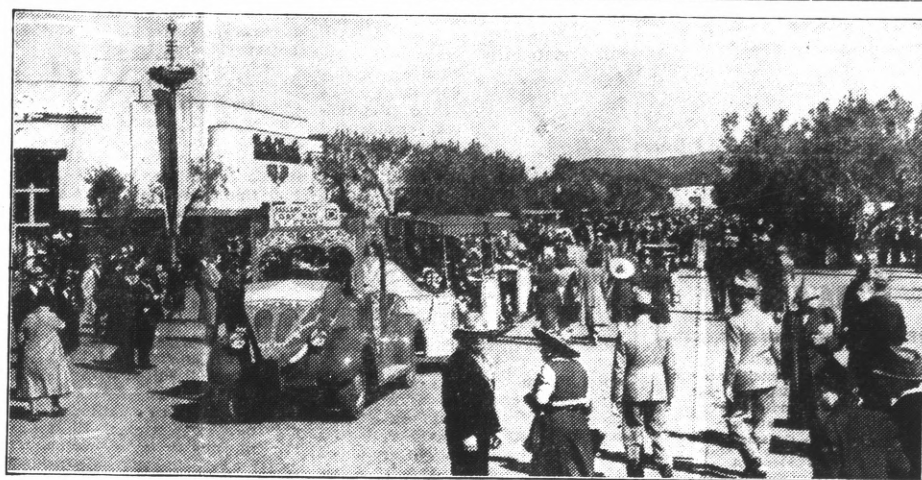

Mrs. Keller said that the circumstance that she found it necessary to put out a fresh supply of booklets daily indicated the great interest now prevailing in foothill properties.

During her attendance at the convention she engaged in an intensive newspaper advertising campaign and hurried home Saturday evening to receive the inquiries resulting from her advertisements.

Mrs. Keller reports that the convention was royally entertained, spent parts of two days on Treasure Island and enjoyed tours to model homes districts in Marin county and down the San Francisco peninsula which were outstanding.

County Surveyor Don M. Hoffman has completed his annual two-week period of active duty with the Army, maintaining his standing as a reserve officer, and returned to duties at the courthouse Monday. Captain Hoffman was in camp at the Presidio of Monterey.

Mrs. Kathleen Dwyer, rural school supervisor, left Sunday for San Francisco to spend the summer, attending summer school, visiting the fair, attending the National Education Association convention, and visiting with relatives in the Bay area.

New Laws Will Be Effective On Sept. 19th

SACRAMENTO — The new laws enacted by the present legislature will become effective September 19, unless some other date is specifically provided for in the text of the bills.

This was announced by Charles J. Hagerty, deputy secretary of state, following a conference with the legislative counsel bureau. The time for the laws to become effective is on the ninety first day after adjournment of the legislature June 20th., not counting Sundays and holidays.

Hagerty said the thirty day bill signing period allowed the governor following adjournment will end on July 25th. Bills left with the governor upon adjournment and not acted upon by that date die by the pocket veto. Bills reaching the governor's desk prior to the final ten days of the session must be acted upon within ten days or become law without his signature.

The last day upon which referendum petitions may be filed against any of the new laws enacted at the present session will be September 18th.

CAMP SACRAMENTO WILL OPEN FOR SEASON ON JULY 1

SACRAMENTO—Reservations for Camp Sacramento this year are going as fast as the hotcakes that Chief Alex Tronsen served hungry guests at the city's mile-high vacation spot in the high Sierra near Lake Tahoe.

Reservations opened Thursday, J. B. Maloney, recreation department superintendent, said prospects indicate a near-record year.

Opening July 1—two weeks later than usual—the camp will be in the best shape in its history when the first guests arrive, Maloney promised.

Snow damage during the winter was negligible. All cabins and the main buildings are being renovated under direction of Ernest B. Chappell, who, with Mrs. Chappell, again will be the host and manager.

New development this year will be the construction of new seats at the fire ring, where the nightly camp fire and open air entertainments will be held.

Mrs. Harry Reaside was a caller in the county seat Monday from Lotus.

BUILDING TO CONTINUE

$99,527 FHA Loans For 100 Undertakings In County For Past Year

SAN FRANCISCO—Continuation of Northern California's ten million dollar modernization program, launched last year, was predicted as a result of Congressional action extending the Federal Housing Administration property improvement credit plan.

Amendments to the act regulating this form of government-insured financing, adopted in February, 1938, lent impetus to the program and from March through December last year FHA insured 17,212 loans totaling $9,861,865.11 for the improvement of property in the 46 counties comprising the Northern California district.

The success of the modernization campaign sponsored by local civic organizations is attested by the fact that Title One loans amounting to $99,527.44 were insured by FHA last year to finance 100 improvement projects in El Dorado county.

Funds borrowed from approved lending institutions under this phase of FHA financing may be used to permanently improve all types of buildings, it was declared, whether for residential, business, industrial or farm purposes.

"The extension of the property improvement credit plan for an additional two years means that this district's modernization program can continue without interruption," said D. C. McGinness, district director of the Federal Housing Administration in Northern California.

"Constructive expenditures of more than ten million dollars a year in this district for the improvement of existing buildings means not only sizable payrolls, but the preservation of property values. It encourages improved housing standards and better living conditions, thereby carrying out one of the fundamental objectives of the National Housing Act."

In addition to loans insured under the property improvement credit plan, it was stated that FHA last year selected for appraisal 18,544 mortgages on Northern California homes amounting to $84,560,000. Of that number 16 mortgages totaling $61,200 were on homes in El Dorado county.

Mt. Ralston Club Starts Annual Fish Planting

The annual trout planting season of the Mt. Ralston Fish Planting Club started Sunday with a plant of 30,000 eastern brook in Round Lake and Dardanelles Lake south of Lake Tahoe. The plant captain was Dr. Chalmers West and he was assisted by a number of members of the club and with the aid of a ten horse pack train. Harvey Holland, chairman of the fish planting committee, has regular plants mapped for each weekend through September. A total of 1,250,000 trout will be planted.

OLSON RENEWS RELIEF FIGHT

Adjournment Of Session Hinges Upon Action Taken On $50,000,000 Bill

SACRAMENTO (UP)—The subject of relief stacked up today as the deciding factor in adjournment of California's 53rd legislature — whether the session will end tomorrow night or go on for the rest of the week with clocks stopped.

The assembly took up again today at 2:30 p. m. Gov. Culbert Olson's demand for a $50,000,000 temporary relief appropriation, which caused a 24-hour deadlock between administration and Republican forces last week.

The earlier relief skirmish ended in defeat for Olson when the Lore bill was short six votes of the required two-thirds majority, but the governor's assembly leaders challenged their opponents to another showdown. The bill before the lower house today is the Shelley bill, approved in the senate with a $21,320,000 appropriation but raised to $50,000,000 by the administration-controlled assembly ways and means committee.

Hanging over the lawmakers' heads is the implied threat of an immediate special session, but Olson is expected to compromise on a reduced appropriation.

Other major bills remaining to be acted upon before adjournment are the Pierovich $170,000,000 General Valley project expansion proposal and the Atkinson Oil Control Bill, both prime administration measures.

The Pierovich bill, proposing issuance of revenue bonds to finance public distribution of power to be available at Shasta dam in 1934, is scheduled for assembly consideration immediately after the relief bill.

The Atkinson oil prorator Act is before the senate, where the same intensive lobbying that forced the bill through the assembly was under way, and indications were that it would pass.

Job Insurance Benefits Grow

Measure Awaiting Olson Signature Liberalizes Payments Under Act

SACRAMENTO (UP)—The problem of what to do with California's constantly increasing unemployment reserve fund was partially solved today as a bill increasing benefit payments went to the governor for signature.

The administration-sponsored measure increases minimum jobless insurance payments from $7 to $10 and the maximum from $15 to $18. Another provision increases the minimum earnings requirement for eligibility from $150 to $300 a year.

The state's reserve fund now totals more than $110,000,000 and income from payroll taxes continues to exceed demands for benefit payments.

WHAT'S WHAT AT A GLANCE

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

Sen. Vandenberg

SENATOR ARTHUR H. VANDENBERG of Michigan generally is recognized in congress as having materially improved his chances of securing next year's Republican presidential nomination by victory in his fight against a two or three hundred million dollar appropriation for the digging of a ship canal across the upper Florida peninsula.

The senate voted down the proposition by a sufficient majority to indicate that the expenditure would have been beaten even if the Wolverine statesman hadn't fought it. However, the fact remains that he did make himself conspicuous as the scheme's most vocal opponent. It was all the more notable a triumph in that Vandenberg is of the minority party on Capitol Hill, suggesting that he must be a formidable scrapper to convert so many Democrats to his side of his campaign to ditch an administratively measure.

I wouldn't go so far as to say that he yet has made himself the premier G. O. P. presidential possibility. I surmise that Thomas E. Dewey still somewhat outrates him; also Senator Robert A. Taft, maybe. Nevertheless, the Michigan-ander who, all along, has been about third in line, appears to have closed up considerably upon his rivals.

$25,000 Damages Asked In Bonfire Shooting

LOS ANGELES. (U)—Mario Ungaro, 8, was walking down an alley and passed a backyard in which a rubbish pile was burning. Today Ungaro, through his parents, filed suit against Mr. and Mrs. Felando, seeking $25,000 damages. The complaint alleges that while young Ungaro was passing the Felandos' rubbish fire a loaded cartridge in the fire exploded, striking him in the left eye.

there's nothing the matter with Vandenberg's

As above remarked, it's a problem whether Dewey is a liberal or a conservative. He usually is classified as a liberal because he's been a successful prosecutor, but the conclusion doesn't necessarily follow. He certainly hasn't told, so far as HE'S concerned, it's his privilege to keep quiet. All the same he's a mystery. They say he has an elegant tenor voice. I doubt that that will help him as a presidential prospect. Taft hasn't much more of a public record than Dewey, but (due to his high-class ancestry) he usually is assessed as an ultra-conservative. I don't contend that is one, merely that that's the popular estimate of him.

Vandenberg is a middling good liberal, but no radical. Liberals can be fairly well suited with him, but he doesn't seriously alarm conservatives. Briefly he's rational. Probably he's TOO rational. He doesn't stir up any wild enthusiasm in either camp. What he needed was something to popularize him violently. I don't suppose his Florida canal victory has done that 100 per cent, but it's advertised him.

Too Much Publicity
It's a commonplace that a presidential possibility is handicapped by being suggested oversoon. It gives his competitors time to gang up on him.

They've done it in Vandenberg's case. He's been a possibility longer than any of the rest of them. He was a possibility, at any rate, as far back as the last Republican convention.

Yet there hasn't been much to shoot at against the Vandenberg target. It isn't that he hasn't been all o. k. His deficiency has been that he's been too darned reasonable to attract attention. As an attention-attraction his Florida canal opposition hasn't been first-class, but it's helped him.

He's a personality. He's a dandy speaker. He's tremendously likable. On the stump he'd be a wonder. All newspapermen love him. He'd get a "press" that would be a hum-dinger.

As to the Florida canal's merits? What of 'em? They're not a national consideration. I'm talking about Vandenberg.

It's Done With Mirrors

This beautiful reflection of Dorothy Farrington is one of many alluring views at the California World's Fair. You aren't gazing at Miss Farrington in the glass bathroom of the Libby-Owens-Ford exhibit, however, but at her mirrored loveliness. The bathroom—which you can't peer into because it isn't that kind of glass—is a feature of the display in the Palace of Homes and Gardens, and visitors say it is a perfectly appointed room.

PONY EXPRESS LETTER OF 1863 FOUND IN OLD SADDLEBAGS, GIFT OF SECOND-HAND MAN TO PRESENT OWNER

The Associated Press reports from Portland, Oregon, that a letter that some Pony Express rider possibly forgot to deliver seventy six years ago has turned up here.

It should have been delivered to a "Mr. Hinman, Esq." in Arizona. The name of the town appeared to be Bannock or Bannion.

The letter was found by Clyde Bateman of Banks, Ore., in a pair of old saddlebags given to him by a second hand dealer several years ago. He found the missive when he started to cut up the bags for their leather.

An "A. Lebrjam" of Placerville, wrote the letter on May 5, 1863. It explained the writer previously had corresponded with "Mr. Hinman, Esq." about a sack of sugar "that got damaged on the road."

And it asked him to tell "Mitchell" if he comes in that I will wait at the foot of mountain the other side of Placerville.

Whether it was Placerville, California, Colorado or Idaho, the writer did not indicate.

Bateman said he will keep the letter unless "Mr. Hinman, Esq." calls for its delivery.

SACRAMENTAN SUCCUMBS EARLY SUNDAY AT POLLOCK PINES

The body of Harvey Payton 59 Sacramento street department employee, who died early Sunday at Pollock Pines, was removed to Sacramento in the care of Memory Chapel for funeral services and interment. Arrangements for the services are in the care of the Harry A. Neumann chapel.

Mr. Payton had been troubled with asthma and was spending some time at Pollock Pines in the hope that his condition might be improved.

He was a native of Iowa and survived by his wife, Donna, and daughter, Ella.

The California Dairy Council met in San Diego, May 26-27.

Mrs. Dorothy Sayers was hostess on Thursday evening of last week to a group of young women who are meeting once each week at the home of some member for an evening of sewing and knitting. On Thursday of this week, the group meets with Mrs. Carol Waldron.

The meeting for last Thursday evening opened with a potluck supper. Those who shared the evening included Evelyn Hicks, Hazel Davey, Helen Waldron and the Mesdames Ella Winn, Dolores Johnson, Betty Waldron, Carol Waldron, Dorothy Sayers, Muriel Brown, Mabel Calm, Onella Jackson, Florence Donnell.

Mrs. Florence Bisagno is up and about again, following a recent appendicitis operation.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING FAVORED MEDIA FOR LOAN GROUPS

SAN FRANCISCO — The newspaper was the favorite and most effective medium of American savings, building and loan associations of all types during 1938, M. M. Hurford, president of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Los Angeles, told delegates to the California Savings and Building-Loan League convention assembled here today. He based his statement on figures compiled by the Public Relations Department of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in connection with the second annual survey of advertising expenditures by thrift institutions throughout the country.

Average expenditures for savings and loan advertising in newspaper last year amounted to about half the advertising dollar of such associations, Hurford stated. Moreover, savings and loan advertising in newspapers was more than five times the advertising used for any other single medium.

In the advertising survey for 1937 conducted a year ago, the first of its kind, it was definitely determined that the newspaper topped all other media for the promotion of savings and loan business. The study was expanded this year with the cooperation of 835 representative associations in all parts of the United States and the result showed that the advertising dollar spent by the average association was divided as follows:

Newspapers, 49.1 cents; miscellaneous media, 15.2 cents; printed material, 25; radio, 8.1; billboards, 6.1; house organs, 4.4; window and office display, 3.8; cards and bus cards, 1.8; special outside signs, 1.7; motion pictures, 0.3.

POCAHONTAS PROPERTY NEAR EL DORADO TO BE REOPENED

H. J. Miller, Lodi mining engineer, and associates are reopening the old Pocahontas mine near El Dorado, a Sacramento paper reports.

The property has been closed for approximately 65 years.

It is credited with a yield of several million dollars in early days, some of the veins carrying unusual values.

Ore exposed in the old workings, which did not extend much below a vertical depth of 180 feet, is reported to be promising.

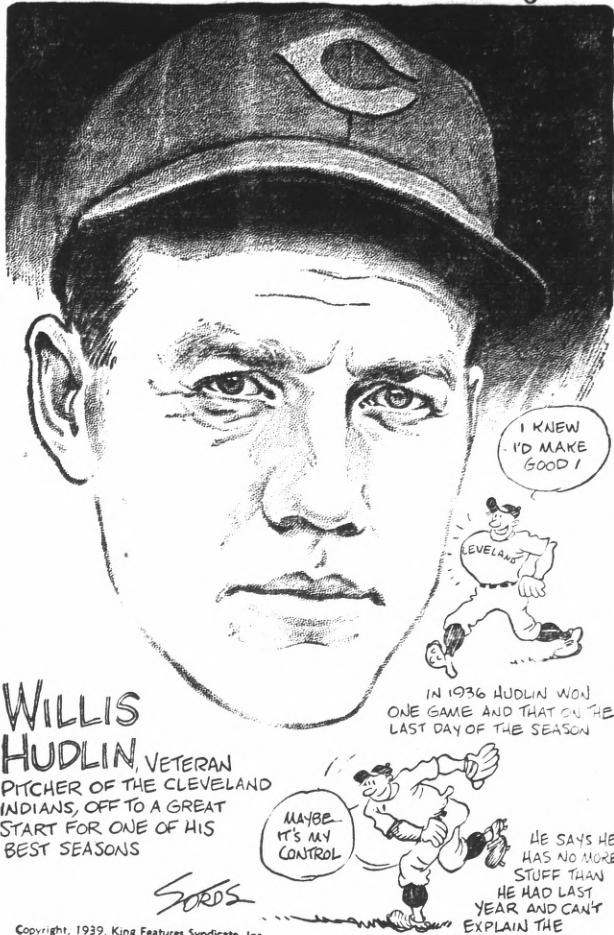

Indications of profitable development of new ground also are indicated.

Calaveras Cement Votes Dividend June 30th

At the regular meeting of the board of directors of the Calaveras Cement Company, held this week, a dividend of $100 per share was declared on the preferred stock, payable June 30th, 1939, to shareholders of record June 26, 1939. The dividend payment applies on account of the preferred stock accumulations.

A Sacramento paper mentions that Dr. and Mrs. W. A. McCurry left the capital city Saturday in their plane to fly to King City to spend the weekend with Dr. Timothy Haw, expecting to return to Sacramento on Monday. Dr. McCurry formerly was in practice of dentistry here and Dr. Haw is our own "Tim."

By HENRY McLEMORE

TOLEDO, O., 18 — Honestly, the man is unbelievable. In his way he ranks along with the Grand Canyon, the Leaning Tower of Pisa, and the Sphinx as sights to behold.

Walter Hagen, I mean. He should be at the world's fair in a glass booth, with a Barker outside advertising him as the athletic marvel of all time, and well worth the 25 cents admission.

It was in 1911, mind you, 26 years ago, that Hagen played in his first golf tournament. Taft was President when Hagen first went out to the golfing wars, and most of his present day rivals had yet to be born in this world of downhill lies, footprinted traps, and parallel hazards.

Yet, the other day, Walter began his ten thousandth or so tournament, and how do you think he started? Like a man crowding that 50-year-mark? Like a man tired of it all? Like a man willing to rest on laurels of 55 major tournaments won?

Hardly. Over the tough course of the Inverness Country Club, with a stiff wind increasing the hazards, and faced by the hottest pack of golfers in the country, Hagen started—birdie—par—birdie—birdie.

He ran down a 45-putt on the first hole. Hit four fine shots on the second, laid a seven iron dead to the pin on the third, and slammed a full brassie curling to the flag on the fourth. He was just around in 69 on his own stick, and had he been given any help by his partner, Gene Sarazen, would have taken the lead in the Inverness four ball invitation tournament with a victory over Horton Smith and Harry Cooper, a pair of better-than-fair hackers.

Hagen accomplished this 69 with no practice. Until he stepped on the first tee, with 5,000 customers out there watching him, he hadn't been on a golf course for 11 days. And he hadn't spent these 11 days at a Boy Scout camp, diving and swimming and hiking over the hills, and eating three substantial meals a day.

He had spent them in pursuit of pleasure, his favorite sport, while the hands of the clock whirled merrily from 12 to 12.

I'll take it back—Hagen did have a little practice before he shot his 69. Alone, he slipped off behind a barn near the course and hit a few shots.

"I thought I'd better see if I could hit the fool ball before I went out before all the people," Hagen said in explanation later.

He took most of the gallery with him, silk-shirted, hair slicked back, he strutted vainly down the first fairway. The Inverness course covers acres and acres but Hagen, the one and only Walter, dominated every square foot of it as he strode gallantly around. He gave the crowd a tremendous show, as he always does, acknowledging applause with gestures worthy of a Cyrano, and keeping up a running fire of conversation with the spectators.

After one drive his ball fell close to Cooper's. He had a good lie, and Cooper a bad one. With eyes twinkling he turned to Harry and said: "My boy, you must learn to live right if you want to get good lies. That has been my motto ever since I started."

Back in the locker room it was Hagen's bench that was crowded. He knew everyone and everyone knew him. He told a story a minute, and was showing no signs of running out when dusk settled over the course.

The tremendous popularity of Hagen, after all these years, is shown by the first request of golf tournament sponsors. The man they want, first of all, is Walter, the Ol' Hag, the mightiest fairway warrior of them all.

Long may the green fairways beckon to him, long may his laugh brighten the locker rooms.

the dinner were Supervisor and Mrs. W. H. Breedlove, of Georgetown, and Mr. and Mrs. Reuel V. Whigam, and Secretary and Mrs. Ripley, of Placerville. Mr. Breedlove and Mr. Whigam are the county's directors in the Sacramento-Tahoe Region organization.

Among distinguished visitors were Jean Hersholt, the motion picture player, and Niels Bukhs, noted Danish athletic director, who was currently at Treasure Island with his famed company of gymnasts. Later the dinner guests were guests of Mr. Bukhs at a demonstration by his company.

The trout, Ripley reported, were served on a series of large platters. Each platter contained a Tahoe mackinaw and was garnished with smaller eastern brook, German brown and rainbow trout.

"And there were seconds, too," Ripley declared.

The dinner was served by the county Board of Supervisors as a gesture of appreciation to the Golden Gate International Exposition Commission and the Sacramento-Tahoe Region board for the courtesies and considerations shown El Dorado County in the world's fair display.

The Board of Supervisors was supported in the undertaking by the Rod and Gun Club and by the Chamber of Commerce.

Among those who figured prominently in providing and collecting the fish for the dinner are Frank Globin, Charles Young, John Keller, John A. Winkelman, Roland Gust, C. P. Stevens, Leonard Zelwick, Dr. Lester Rantz, Germana Gastaldi, A. C. Winkelman, Park Stark, Wallace Ripley and A. H. Murray.

FORMER PLACERVILLE YOUTH WEDS AT OAKLAND

Morris Stewart, formerly of Placerville, and now resident at Oakland, and Miss Cora Shirley, of Berkeley, were married before the Rev. Crane of the Episcopal church in an informal ceremony Saturday evening, June 17, at the home of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Jack Geneva, formerly Francine Stewart, at Oakland.

The couple were attended by the bride's sister, Mrs. Hadley, as matron of Honor, and Jack Geneva, as best man.

The room was beautifully decorated with white sweet peas with silver for trimming and was softly lighted by white candles. The bride was lovely in a dark tailored suit with a beautiful corsage of white gardenias and was given in marriage by her father.

A large group of relatives and friends of the principals was present and the ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents in Berkeley.

who were present were Mrs. Philip Frost and son, Lester; Mrs. Olga Ziomke, George Besse, Jr., and Miss Eleanor Roberson. Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace and daughter, Pauline, of Sacramento, also were in attendance.

Louis Veerkamp was among the callers in the county seat from the Gold Hill section on Saturday.

CLAIRE TREVOR and Thomas Mitchell share in several strange moments as their paths cross during the course of "Stagecoach," new film drama showing at the Empire Theatre tonight and Tuesday.

"STAGECOACH" CLOSES 3-DAY SHOWING ON TUESDAY NIGHT

With a cast studded with brilliant stars, and a story of breathless speed and excitement, "Stagecoach" rode into the Empire last night for its local premiere. As well as the talents of nine featured players and a novel and arresting theme, "Stagecoach" has the advantages of an excellent screenplay by Dudley Nichols, masterful direction by John Ford, and the usual place and authenticity that distinguish a Walter Wanger production.

The story takes nine men and women on a coach trip from Tonto to Lordsburg in the period of the 1880's. These passengers include Claire Trevor as a lady of lax morals but large heart, John Wayne as a youthful renegade, Louise Platt as a young matron from Virginia, Donald Meek as a timid whiskey salesman, Berton Churchill as a pompous and dishonest banker, Geo. Bancroft as a rough government official of the time, Andy Devine as the squeaky-voiced driver of the coach, Thomas Mitchell as a slightly sly physician, and John Carradine as a gentleman-gambler.

The adventures they encounter on their way, and the relationships that spring up between them, furnish the motion picture with most of its action.

The picture will be shown tonight and Tuesday.

ROULETTE ON BARGE AT SEA MAY BE EXPENSIVE, BUT IT'S STRICTLY LEGAL PASTIME

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

ABOARD THE S. S. REX, at Sea, (UP)—While nearly 2000 Californians, including half a dozen movie stars who shall be nameless here, played with the spinning balls and the galloping dice on the main deck of the Rex, we squeezed through a sliding panel in the wall, where a sign said: "KEEP OUT."

There, in the office furnished with sink settees and a mahogany desk, sat Tony Cornera Stralla, the prohibition run runner, who has worked up a strictly legal gambling business, with profits the mayor of Los Angeles estimates at better than $75,000 a week, net.

Stralla kept his hat on and two husky assistants at his side. He said he had nothing to say of interest to anybody, but he'd answer any questions we asked him. We wanted to know first about the lurid stories concerning his operations as the biggest of the big time run runners.

"I am," he said without even the hint of a smile, "the most docile harmless person that ever lived. Why, some of my employees here on this boat have been with me for 15 straight years. Ask any of them about me."

We wondered aloud why he decided to flout the prohibition laws. "They do say I was in the rum running business," he retorted. "Well, I'll tell you why I was in it. I did it to keep 120,000,000 Americans from being poisoned to death."

More questions, with rapid fire from the owner of the 400 foot Rex, developed the fact that he had 350 men working aboard the ship, and that he spent $4500 every day in salaries and other expenses, including that of an airplane which writes with smoke in the sky over Los Angeles every afternoon: "Play on the S. S. Rex."

Stralla was cagey about estimating his profits. He said he could not gauge them, but that they were far smaller than Mayor Fletcher Bowron charged. Whatever Stralla may say about his income, the fact remains that a similar boat, the Tango, is anchored nearby, while three more are being built to grab a share of the business, while it lasts.

"What do you mean, while it lasts?" Stralla demanded. "It is a strictly legal business, complying with all federal maritime statutes. That has been fought out in the courts and there's no need to talk about it."

Stralla's organization is tricky. One corporation owns the gambling boat, which is anchored outside the three mile limit. Another corporation, with which he has no connection, operates a water taxi service between the ship and shore. A third company, incorporated in Nevada, is in the check cashing business.

Cup Lake Presents A Fishing Paradox

Cup Lake, which is located along the Sierra summit ridge at 9,000 feet elevation near Echo Lake, west of Lake Tahoe, presents a paradoxical situation, observes a Sacramento paper. The lake is planted practically entirely to golden trout, the season on which does not open until July 1st. However, there are a few eastern brook in the lake and it is situated in district 23 which opens to fishing May 30th. Consequently, anglers coming from there say they are in a quandry when legally angling for eastern brook and a golden trout gets too well impaled on their hook.
